Meteorologists have determined Atlanta is about to endure another round of snowmageddon/snowpocalypse/SNOWMG. If you forgot to stock up on milk and bread, you might need to dine out this weekend. Eater Atlanta is checking in with local restaurants and keeping track of which will be open as usual, which will be adjusting hours, and which might close altogether. Check back often; we'll update the following list as information becomes available. Oh, and if there are any confirmed snow-related happy hours or specials, we'll list those too.

Adjusted Hours
